80% of brain growth happens in the first 3 years of life.

Caring interactions develop positive brain connections that improve:
- Mental and physical health
- Thinking and learning
- Managing stress

Thriving individuals develop supportive relationships that help people cope and heal.

As a result, communities grow strong, safe and successful.

But still today:
- Individuals are more isolated than in previous times
- Without support, people find unhealthy ways to cope
- Ongoing stress can lead to poor health and well-being

What's your connection?
- Reach out to a neighbor
- Spend time with a child without electronics
- Listen to someone's story
- Make a meal for a parent

connectionsmatter.org