

Board of Directors

PCA America is working to end child abuse and neglect by supporting families before they reach crisis.

Why does prevention matter?

A child's early experiences impact him or her throughout life. Children raised in safe, stable, and nurturing environments are more likely to be healthy and thrive physically, emotionally, and academically—contributing to economic prosperity for everyone.

Our success is founded on a nationwide network of state chapters and nearly 600 Healthy Families America home visiting sites. We reach millions of families every year across the country, providing parents and caregivers with a variety of direct services—with proven benefits for children and their parents. We work for family-friendly policies and lead research to find what works best for kids and families.

Who are the PCA America Board Members?

The board is a select group of corporate and civic leaders and subject-matter experts from across the country who are united in wanting to end child maltreatment and set up all children and families to thrive.
